Purified UDP-galactose dehydrogenase (UDP-GalDH) is biochemically, as well as structurally, similar to UDP-glucose dehydrogenase (UDP-GlcDH), an enzyme that is well characterized. The UDP-GalDH and UDP-GlcDH genes were discovered in the course of a screen for genes whose products encode UDP-sugar dehydrogenases. UDP-GalDH and UDP-GlcDH genes were discovered by way of a virtual genome screen using a novel algorithm (in which they appear to be part of a larger family of genes whose products encode
