What's New In?

I am currently developing an ecommerce site for a client. They want the site to be fully responsive and mobile friendly. To do that, the site will be built on WordPress. Some of the additional features:

- they would like the site to be mobile friendly (with drop down menus and images)
- they would like to be able to customize the site - should be fairly easy to make additional pages
- 3rd party integration is necessary for some of the features - custom shipping methods ...wants to show this script on a page that's written in PHP and hosted on GoDaddy. A user will be able to click on a button or enter a URL, and the button or url will open a window displaying a website. Here are the requirements:

1. The code is not available for download. Only the PHP page is available.
2. The PHP file must open the website on a specific URL.
3. The website must be displayed in a specific frame.
4. The script must be fully functional
5. It must be very secure
6. The script must be used on a site that's displayed on a page
7. It must be possible to pass variables to the script I don't need any code to actually be sent. This is only for testing purposes.

The project is to install (and fix the theme of) a WordPress site from scratch. The site in question is [login to view URL] Before we begin, it is necessary to fix certain themes as they are incompatible with the WP version being installed and therefore break other functionality. The main goal is to make sure that all web functions are working properly on all pages, posts, widgets and options. We need an event script for an event. It has to be similar to [login to view URL] We have some script and plugins already but they are outdated and not compatible with the latest version of WordPress. Please do not waste your time if you dont know what we mean. ...wants to show this script on a page that's written in PHP and hosted on GoDaddy.
