Note If you're interested in using Photoshop as a web gallery tool, check out some of the software programs discussed on Putting Your Photos to Web-Gallery Use. * Mac or PC-based : Photoshop works in either a Mac-based or Windows-based environment. Apple likes to point out that Photoshop was among the first graphics software available for the Mac. The Mac environment is designed to be oriented around a desktop paradigm, with icons, windows, toolbars, and menus. You can easily connect to a network of Photoshop workstations for batch processing of large numbers of images. The latest Mac OS X (version 10.5, Leopard) includes an improved image-viewing tool called Preview that can display the contents of any Photoshop file as a preview to help you decide if you want to save your changes. * Windows or Mac : Photoshop also works on Windows-based PCs—as well as other Macintosh computers running OS X. You can attach multiple copies of your image files directly to the hard drive by using this option, known as a `_desktop_`, so that you have access to them from any computer you work on. With Photoshop, however, Windows PCs take longer to open and display an image than their Mac counterparts, and the Mac OS has traditionally had better support for large file sizes.

While not quite as popular as the professional version, it is still a very popular tool for users around the globe. It is one of the most famous graphics-editing software. What is Photoshop Elements? Photoshop Elements is designed to edit photos, images, illustrations, designs, cartoons, logos, and more. It contains over 50 powerful filters, advanced tools, and powerful drawing and image retouching tools. This review will only focus on the basic features of Elements, not the advanced tools and features. Categories Of The Software The tool includes the following: Photography tools Image editor Tutorials Editing tools Photo Editor The software also includes a built-in Organizer. It is a tool for organizing images and data in folders. You can create a new folder for each project or folder or use the default folders. Organizing folders is quick and easy. All you need to do is click the “+” on the top right of the Organizer window to create new folder. It is just a matter of renaming the new folder. You can use the Organizer to organize images, you have complete control over them. You can edit the filenames and also add dates for images. Other than that, the organization system works like any other folder that you use on your computer. The Organizer is the best thing about Photoshop Elements. This is something that you cannot get from other graphics editors. Ask HN: What to do when the "perfect" idea comes into your head? - mrandhurandhura I'm a kid with a messed up and non-obvious idea, which I kept thinking about a lot throughout my life (probably since I was 9 or 10 years old). For the last few years, I've been using the word "playpen" to describe my idea. I just recently started thinking about hiring a professional to design a landing page and a business plan for me. On the website itself, I'd like to have a place to show my idea. How many startups do not have a website? I'd definitely like to have a web presence to be able to show the world what I'm up to. (Another challenge is that I'm based in India, and hiring a US-based professional would be very expensive for me). So, here I am, asking on HN if you, for example, have good recommendations for the type of person you think would be best suited to the task. For example, a professional with experience in startups, or very good at designing websites, but not very good at building them? Alternatively, there is the possibility I just write it down and study the strategy for next year and repeat the same thing next year (and I really do enjoy learning). This is the first time I've actually written the question here, so I'm eager to hear your thoughts! ===== mrandhurandhura (And sorry if my English isn't the best, I'm not a native speaker.) ----- anonhacker The thought of not having a home on the web scared me and I don't plan on complying with that idea. A landing page to explain what your idea is is key and just like any business, it's important to have a proper business plan. I don't think you need an expert in designing but someone who has the mind/knowledge to organize the 'world' and have it within a framework. This helps keep you on track with milestones. ~~~ mrandhurandhura I'm actually not scared, I just realized that having a site would be very important for people to come to my side and talk with me, which is basically what I'd need at the moment. ~~~ anonhacker I understand but the point that getting a Molecular scintigraphy of abnormal neoplastic lesions with (99m)Tc-labeled 2,4,6-tris-3-hydroxyphenylpropionic acid. In this study, we evaluated the usefulness of (99m)Tc-labeled 2,4,6-tris-3-hydroxyphenylpropionic acid (2-4-6-THPP) as a molecular scintigraphic marker for malignant neoplastic lesions. We imaged in vivo 7 rats with VX2 liver tumor, 2 rabbits with spontaneous colorectal cancer, and 1 rat with hepatoma. In rats with liver tumor, we obtained images at 30, 60, 90, and 120 minutes after intravenous administration of 2-4-6-THPP. In the rabbits, two rabbits with spontaneous colorectal cancer were imaged at 1 hour and 2 days after intravenous administration of 2-4-6-THPP. At 1 hour after administration, the accumulation of radioactivity at all sites was higher than that at 2 days after administration. In the rat with hepatoma, the accumulation of radioactivity was slightly higher than that in the control group at 1 hour after administration, but the difference was not statistically significant. For the diagnosis of malignant liver tumors, the uptake of radioactivity of 2-4-6-THPP was higher than that of 99mTc-labeled macroaggregated albumin ((99m)Tc-MAA). For the diagnosis of metastatic colorectal cancer, the accumulation of radioactivity at 1 hour after 2-4-6-THPP administration was higher than that at 2 days after administration. (99m)Tc-labeled 2,4,6-THPP is a useful marker for molecular scintigraphy of malignant neoplastic lesions. Related Events Grand Rapids Business Journal has revealed it is becoming the first metro business news organization in Michigan to launch a blockchain-based blockchain industry news platform. The platform, mBlockchain, will provide robust, real-time news, analysis and market reporting of the emerging blockchain space. The new, state-of-the-art blockchain-based news platform will be developed by Blockag, the global blockchain-driven platform provider for more than 30,000 corporate brands, both public and private, and more than 3.5 million users, according to the platform'
